STAFF REPORT

IN CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION NO. 18-4891, FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROCLAIMING MAY 5, 2018 AS A DAY OF AWARENESS FOR MISSING AND MURDERED NATIVE WOMEN AND GIRLS

Date: 4/26/18

Prepared by: Maiya Osife, Metro Parks and Nature

BACKGROUND

- American Indian and Alaska Native women are 2.5 times more likely to experience violent crimes – and at least twice as likely to experience rape or sexual assault crimes – compared to all other races, according to a 2013 National Congress of American Indian Policy Research Center report. On some reservations, Indigenous women are murdered at 10 times the national average rate.
- A 2016 National Institute of Justice–funded study revealed that a staggering 84% of Indigenous women have experienced violence in their lifetime, and 56% of Indigenous women are survivors of sexual violence.
- There remains insufficient data on the total number of missing Indigenous women in the United States or Canada because there's been no centralized database for keeping that information.
- In 2013, the Canadian government began a national inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous women and girls, but the United States has yet to take such action.
- Metro Council has the opportunity to stand with other tribal, local, regional, state and national governments and organizations in honoring May 5, 2018 as National Day of Awareness for Missing and Murdered Native Women and Girls.
